Chinese Invade North Burma Area

RANGOON, Burma, July 31 (U-P)—Military sources said tonight Chinese Communist troops have occupied about 1,000 square miles of Burma's northern territory after clashes with Burmese forces. Some casualties were reported.

Burma's government said it was "seriously concerned" about the border area developments. A Foreign Office statement, confirming reports that Red Chinese troops established outposts in northeast Burma, said the government has brought the matter to the attention of the Chinese government in Peking.

"Negotiations are now in progress with a view to the withdrawal of these Chinese troops to the Chinese side of the border," the Foreign Office said.

Conference

Premier Ba Swe has been conferring with the inner circle of his Cabinet and with Burmese military chiefs. The executive committee of the Premier's party, the Anti-Fascist Peoples' Freedom League, were informed of a "threat to Burma's security."

Military informants said troops of the two armies now faced one another across a strip of land no wider than 200 yards at many points in the mountainous area known as the Northern Wa State, about 100 miles east of Lashio.

Accurate reports on the strength of the Chinese force were not available, but it was estimated here at not less than 500 troops.

The military sources said the Chinese occupied a triangular area with a 54-mile base after penetrating as far as 60 miles beyond the frontiers of the Kachin and Wa states. Additional small forces of Red troops are reported in the Kachin states to the north of the Wa area.

Foreign Minister Sao Hkon Hkio met with top War Office officials and the Foreign Office said it was keeping in close touch with the border developments.

One frontier report quoted Red Chinese soldiers as saying they were searching for "machitsay," a plant believed to be a powerful antidote against snakebite, opium poisoning or alcohol poisoning.

Burma, which has pursued a neutralist policy in the cold war, has had friendly though not close relations with its big Communist neighbor.

Commission To Make Inspection

HARRISBURG, July 31 (U-P)—Members of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission and its staff will make an inspection trip Thursday of almost 40 additional miles of the Northeastern Extension to be opened Aug. 30, 31 or Sept. 1.

Chairman G. Franklin McSorley said that "only bad weather" could prevent completion of the new road by the target dates. He added that the long range weather forecast predicts normal August weather and, therefore, the opening probably won't be delayed.

McKeon Chokes With Emotion

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., July 31 (U-P)—Weeping and trembling with nervous tension, S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon today graphically reenacted the April 8 death march that cost the lives of six of his Marine recruits. He finally choked with emotion, the tears clogged his vision and he could not go on. He had just finished telling how one victim, a Negro boy, lost a grip on him and slid to death in the dark waters of Ribbon Creek.

McKeon used a pointer to trace the route of the death march on an 8x8-foot model of the Ribbon Creek death march area. Every word he spoke, every move he made with the pointer took him steadily closer to the point where he dissolved soundlessly into tears.

The 31-year-old defendant said he never was in water above his chest during what he called a disciplinary night march. But he testified the drowned recruits had floundered some 30 feet further into the creek when they went under "in a big, mad commotion."

Earlier

Earlier, McKeon choked up momentarily as he assured his court-martial he has slapped his 5-year-old daughter harder than he ever slapped any member of recruit Platoon 71.

McKeon called the death march similar to one he underwent as a fledgling Marine "on several occasions."

In discussing the breaches of discipline of Platoon 71, defense attorney Emile Zola Berman asked McKeon at one point: "Fundamentally, they were not bad boys, were they?"

Without pause, McKeon leveled a gaze over the crowded courtroom and said in soft tones that encompassed both the living and the dead:

Praise

"They were good lads." McKeon is accused of manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty in connection with the death march. He can be dishonorably discharged and imprisoned if convicted.

Before McKeon testified on the 11th day of trial testimony, Berman announced he was requesting the Marine commandant, Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, as a witness for the defense.

In a statement last May 1, Gen. Pate expressed shock at Marine practices in force at the time of the death march and called for a shakeup of training methods.

Bloom Seeks Funds

PHILADELPHIA, July 31 (U-P)—George I. Bloom, new Republican state chairman, today urged a group of GOP party financial supporters to start making campaign donations now instead of waiting till convention time.

Stassen Raises Specter Of Possible Defeat For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, July 31 (U-P)—Harold E. Stassen, seeking to bolster his anti-Nixon campaign, today raised the specter of possible defeat for President Eisenhower if Vice President Richard M. Nixon is renominated.

Stassen told an overflow audience at a National Press Club luncheon that Nixon's name on the GOP ticket would cost Eisenhower "millions of votes" in an election that will be no "cinch."

Federal Court Convicts Six Communists

NEW YORK, July 31 (U-P)—A federal court jury today convicted six second-string Communist leaders of conspiring to teach and advocate overthrow of the U.S. government by force and violence.

Each faces a possible maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Judge Alexander Bicks told the jury of eight men and four women, who deliberated 11 hours before reaching a verdict, that "you have done an excellent job."

The court fixed Sept. 17 for sentencing and denied a government request that bail of the defendants be increased.

Three Months

The trial had lasted three months. Those convicted are Alexander Trachtenberg, 72, former Communist party national committeeman; George Blake Charney, 51, acting chairman of the New York State Communist party; Sidney Stein, 40, assistant national labor secretary; Fred M. Fine, 41, public affairs secretary; William Norman, 53, executive secretary of the state party; and James E. Jackson Jr., 31, Southern regional director of the party.

Trachtenberg and Charney previously were tried and convicted, but won new trials after turnabout witness Harvey Matson signed an affidavit that he gave perjured testimony against them.

The six Communists issued a statement charging the verdict resulted from "a combination of paid political informers and anti-Communist prejudice."

Body Identified

SIMCOE, Ont., July 31 (U-P)—A body found washed up on Lake Erie's north shore Sunday was identified today by his mother as that of theatrical producer Gordon Pollock, 28, who disappeared last April while flying his own plane from Detroit to New York.

Steelworkers Still Await Starting Sign

NEW YORK, July 31 (U-P)—Some 60,000 striking steelworkers waited today to return to work while negotiators for the union and 20 companies struggled over details of new contracts.

The industry and the United Steelworkers of America reached basic agreement last week on settling the month-old strike, but work will resume only when contracts have been signed.

Representatives of the companies and the union, in separate meetings, were trying to reach contractual language agreeable to both sides.

Negotiators

Negotiators for the Bethlehem Steel Co. and the union were among those who met after an earlier report—and denial—that a rift had developed between them.

Presidents of four union locals had said in Allentown, Pa., the union was unable to reach agreement with the company.

The company, they said, wanted "contractual language weaker in many respects than in the previous contract."

They said the principal bones of contention involved vacation, seniority, grievance and "past practices" clauses.

In New York, however, a Bethlehem spokesman said "there has not been any rift."

Both industry and union officials have expressed hope that contracts with each of the companies would be completed by Thursday, but a spokesman for the United States Steel Corp. said the job "could go on all week."

Caldwell Resigns Waynesburg For ESSTC Position

HARRISBURG, July 31 (U-P)—Alva L. Caldwell, Waynesburg, resigned today as personnel director of the state Public Instruction Department, effective immediately.

Caldwell said he would become business manager of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, effective tomorrow.

Reinstated

Caldwell was dismissed from the personnel post June 30, L. A. Gov. Furman asked the governor to study the dismissal and Caldwell was reinstated July 11. Caldwell and Furman are from Greene County.

pushing the Stassen drive out from under the White House eaves and putting it on a go-it-alone basis.

Another view being expressed here is that in granting the leave-of-absence, Eisenhower did nothing to discourage Stassen's drive.

In Boston, Herter told a news conference he knows nothing about the leave and has not been in touch with Stassen. Herter reiterated he is not a candidate but added he will do "whatever the President asks."

Britain Alerts Forces Over Suez

LONDON, July 31 (U-P)—Military leaders tonight alerted Britain's armed forces to be ready for immediate action in case Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal produces violence.

This action came after the Soviet Union moved into the canal dispute by throwing its support behind Egypt. Russia also urged everyone to keep cool.

Armed forces at home and in the Mediterranean were alerted for action. A statement said British military positions in the eastern Mediterranean were being strengthened.

President Eisenhower urgently dispatched Secretary of State Dulles to London to participate in the key concluding period of the American-French-British talks on the canal.

Position

Prime Minister Eden planned to inform Parliament on Thursday of Britain's position in the dispute. He moved back his speech a day in order to talk with Dulles.

In the present tense international atmosphere Britain's War Office issued this statement:

"Certain precautionary measures of a military nature are being taken with the object of strengthening our position in the eastern Mediterranean area and our general ability to deal with any situation that may arise."

The statement contained no elaboration. But it was understood British military forces in Cyprus and elsewhere in the Middle East would be held in readiness in case of trouble.

Earlier, the Admiralty placed several British warships, including two aircraft carriers, on a ready basis. These ships, in British home waters, were being prepared to sail on a moment's notice for the Mediterranean.

The British Shipowners Trade Assn. advised its members to keep on paying their canal tolls into accounts of the old International Suez Canal Co. and not to the new national company set up by Egypt. British ships were urged to be well supplied with stores when they approached the canal. The association has been in consultation with Prime Minister Eden's government.

Egyptian authorities have said that henceforth all checks for payment of canal tolls must be made out to the new Egyptian company.

U. S. Airman Arrested For Leaking Info

WASHINGTON, July 31 (U-P)—The Air Force arrested a 21-year-old airman today at Eniwetok for allegedly leaking confidential information that the H-bomb dropped at Bikini May 21 missed its target.

The Air Force, making the announcement here, said Airman Jackson H. Kilgore, Meadowview, Va., had admitted giving the information. It said the youth was being held on a preliminary, general charge that he revealed classified information.

Four Miles

In the little Virginia town where Kilgore was graduated from high school, the youth was described as a good student. A former principal, T. C. Harrison, described Kilgore as "an average boy who never gave anybody any trouble."

He lived on a small farm and was raised by his mother, who is divorced.

Secretary of the Air Force Quigley on June 16 acknowledged that the big bomb dropped by a B52 missed its intended target in the Pacific by "somewhat less" than four miles. He said the miss was due to "human error" in the manipulation of bombing equipment.

Facing a charge of disturbing the peace at Rockefeller's plush mountaintop home 50 miles north of here, the blonde Bobo said she was mauled by "strong-arm methods" in an argument over the couple's 8-year-old son.

Spokesman

A spokesman for Rockefeller agreed that the marathon struggle erupted over young Winnie, but that is the end of any agreement between the two sides.

Request Approval WASHINGTON, July 31 (U-P)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today was asked to approve abandonment by the New Jersey Central Railroad of two branch lines in Luzerne County, Pa.—the 9-mile upper Lehigh branch and the 2-mile Sandy Run branch.

Adlai Stevenson Backers Claim Certain Victory

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver bowed out of the presidential race today, asking his supporters to back Adlai Stevenson in the interests of Democratic party unity and victory.

This gave Stevenson such a boost that many Democrats said he has their party's presidential nomination cinched.

There also were predictions Kefauver may get the vice presidential nomination. He said today he has made no "deals."

Kefauver's unity move came at a time when the Republicans are heading into a fight over their vice presidential nomination. Until recently, the Democratic National Convention was expected to provide all the fireworks. But now Harold E. Stassen is promising to set off some at the Republican conclave with his attempt to unseat Vice President Nixon.

Crippling Aluminum Strike Begins

NEW YORK, Wednesday, Aug. 1 (U-P)—A strike which could knock out two-thirds of the nation's aluminum production began early today.

The strike officially began at midnight in the midst of contract negotiations between two unions and the Aluminum Co. of America and the Reynolds Metals Co.

First plants to be affected were four of the Alcoa firm.

A union spokesman said the walkout would spread automatically across the nation unless agreement were reached in the early morning hours here.

Prisoners Smash Legs In Protest

BUFFORD, Ga., July 31 (U-P)—Leg smashing with rock hammers by 25 hardened convicts was declared today to be a mass outbreak of a practice which has been continuing for some time at Georgia's Rock Quarry Prison.

Dr. Reuben Smith, the prison physician, said bone breaking has been going on for several months, presumably to avoid work. He told of treating 12 to 14 men in four months for injuries from dropping rocks on the feet. He described the incidence as far too high to be accidental.

The 27 white and nine Negro prisoners shattered their legs with their 10 and 12-pound hammers during a rest period yesterday in the quarry of the "hard work" prison about 40 miles northeast of Atlanta. They were quoted indirectly as saying they did it to protest an unbearable work load in the hot sun.

Other Side

But Jack Forrester, state corrections director, declared the protest was simply over having to work. He said only incorrigibles are kept at the prison and all are required to work nine hours a day. He and other officials declared the trouble was with the men and not the prison. He said he saw no reason for a further investigation. He said the men will be subjected to severe discipline as soon as they recover.

All were taken to the hospital at the state's principal prison at Reidsville, 200 miles south. Doctors said at least eight had compound fractures, in which the bone stuck through the skin.

'Bobo' Resting For Next Round Of Fight

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 31 (U-P)—Mrs. Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller rested at a Little Rock hotel today, planning the next step in the rekindled battle with her ex-husband, oil millionaire Winthrop Rockefeller.

Facing a charge of disturbing the peace at Rockefeller's plush mountaintop home 50 miles north of here, the blonde Bobo said she was mauled by "strong-arm methods" in an argument over the couple's 8-year-old son.

Spokesman

A spokesman for Rockefeller agreed that the marathon struggle erupted over young Winnie, but that is the end of any agreement between the two sides.

Kefauver, who had amassed the second largest bloc of delegate strength for the Democratic convention starting in Chicago Aug. 13, announced his withdrawal at a late afternoon news conference.

He said he was convinced "Gov. Stevenson's delegate lead is such that he could be stopped only by throwing the convention into a deadlock."

"I would not want to be a party to this," Kefauver said. He added he felt he could make "a great contribution" to party unity and Democratic victory in the November presidential election by withdrawing as a candidate.

"Victory in November is more important than the victory in August," he said.

He reiterated he is not a candidate for vice president. Asked whether he would accept second place on the ticket, he replied that involved a lot of ifs.

At a special news conference in Chicago, Stevenson said he was pleased with Kefauver's "gracious and spontaneous expression of his support."

"Sen. Kefauver has expressed the hope—which I share—that we Democrats, united by a common purpose, can soon close ranks and get on with this fateful campaign," Stevenson said.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee made no reference whatsoever to any so-called deal with Kefauver.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, another candidate for the nomination, declared he has no intention of following Kefauver's lead and withdrawing.

"I will not withdraw — never. The Democrats want a fighting leader and I am sure I can fill that post," he said in New York.

Shift

He claimed many of Kefauver's delegates had shifted to him rather than Stevenson.

But in St. Louis, Marj R. Holloran, a Democratic national committeeman and backer of Sen. Symington (D-Mo) for the presidential nomination, suggested it might be well for Harriman to withdraw for the sake of party unity.

"If the race is over, it is over and that's all there is to it," he said.

Holloran is a close friend of former President Truman. The latter said the Kefauver withdrawal "does not change my position of neutrality" concerning the race for the nomination.

James A. Finnegan, Stevenson's campaign manager, said Kefauver's move creates "a very strong chance that Stevenson will be nominated on the first ballot."

But in Albany, N.Y., one of Harriman's campaign managers said Harriman's chances of winning the nomination are "brighter than ever."

Damaging Fire Strikes Ardmore

ARDMORE, July 31 (U-P)—An intense, hard-to-reach fire badly damaged a sprawling unoccupied plant in the center of this Main Line community today, injuring at least two men and tying up both rail and highway traffic.

Ardmore's main street, Lancaster Pike, was partly blocked after the front wall of the big four-story plant, formerly occupied by the Autocar Co., collapsed, showering the area with bricks and other debris.

Lehigh Requests Financial Aid

HARRISBURG, July 31 (U-P)—The state's first industrial rehabilitation authority went into operation today and immediately took under consideration five informal requests for more than 1/2 million dollars in loans to fight economic distress.

Four members of Gov. Leader's Cabinet and five representatives of industry were sworn into the authority by Henry Harner, Commonwealth secretary.

Shortly after, the authority reported, it gave consideration to five "informal pre-application loan requests."

Requests

The requests came from: Altoona—$80,000; Lehighton — $37,500; Sunbury—$37,500; Wyalusing, Bradford County — $55,000, and Pine Grove, Schuylkill County — $380,000.

The requests are for loans from a five million dollar fund authorized by the 1955-56 General Assembly for industrial development.

The loans can be up to 30 per cent of the cost of any one project with local authorities and banks making up the balance.

William R. Davlin, commerce secretary, and a member of the authority, said the five informal requests "are planned to be submitted formally by community corporations in the five areas immediately."

He said the amount of funds requested so far by the five areas is "strictly tentative."

Eligible for the loans are community, nonprofit industrial development corporations raising funds to build new plants.

Another stipulation for eligibility is that a community or region have had 6 per cent of its labor force unemployed for the last 3 years or 9 per cent unemployed in the last 18 months.

The governor praised the group for accepting "the responsibility of working on this authority."

"This is just the beginning," Leader declared. "We feel this authority will prove itself in the next six or eight months to the point where the Legislature will recognize its accomplishments and will want to expand this program."

Talking

"Everybody has been talking about industrial development but this is the first state organization named to do something about it. We believe they will do something tangible."

Rep. Folen (D-Washington) who was named as the 10th member of the authority will be sworn into the agency at the expiration of his term in the Legislature, Nov. 30. There is one vacancy on the 11-member agency.

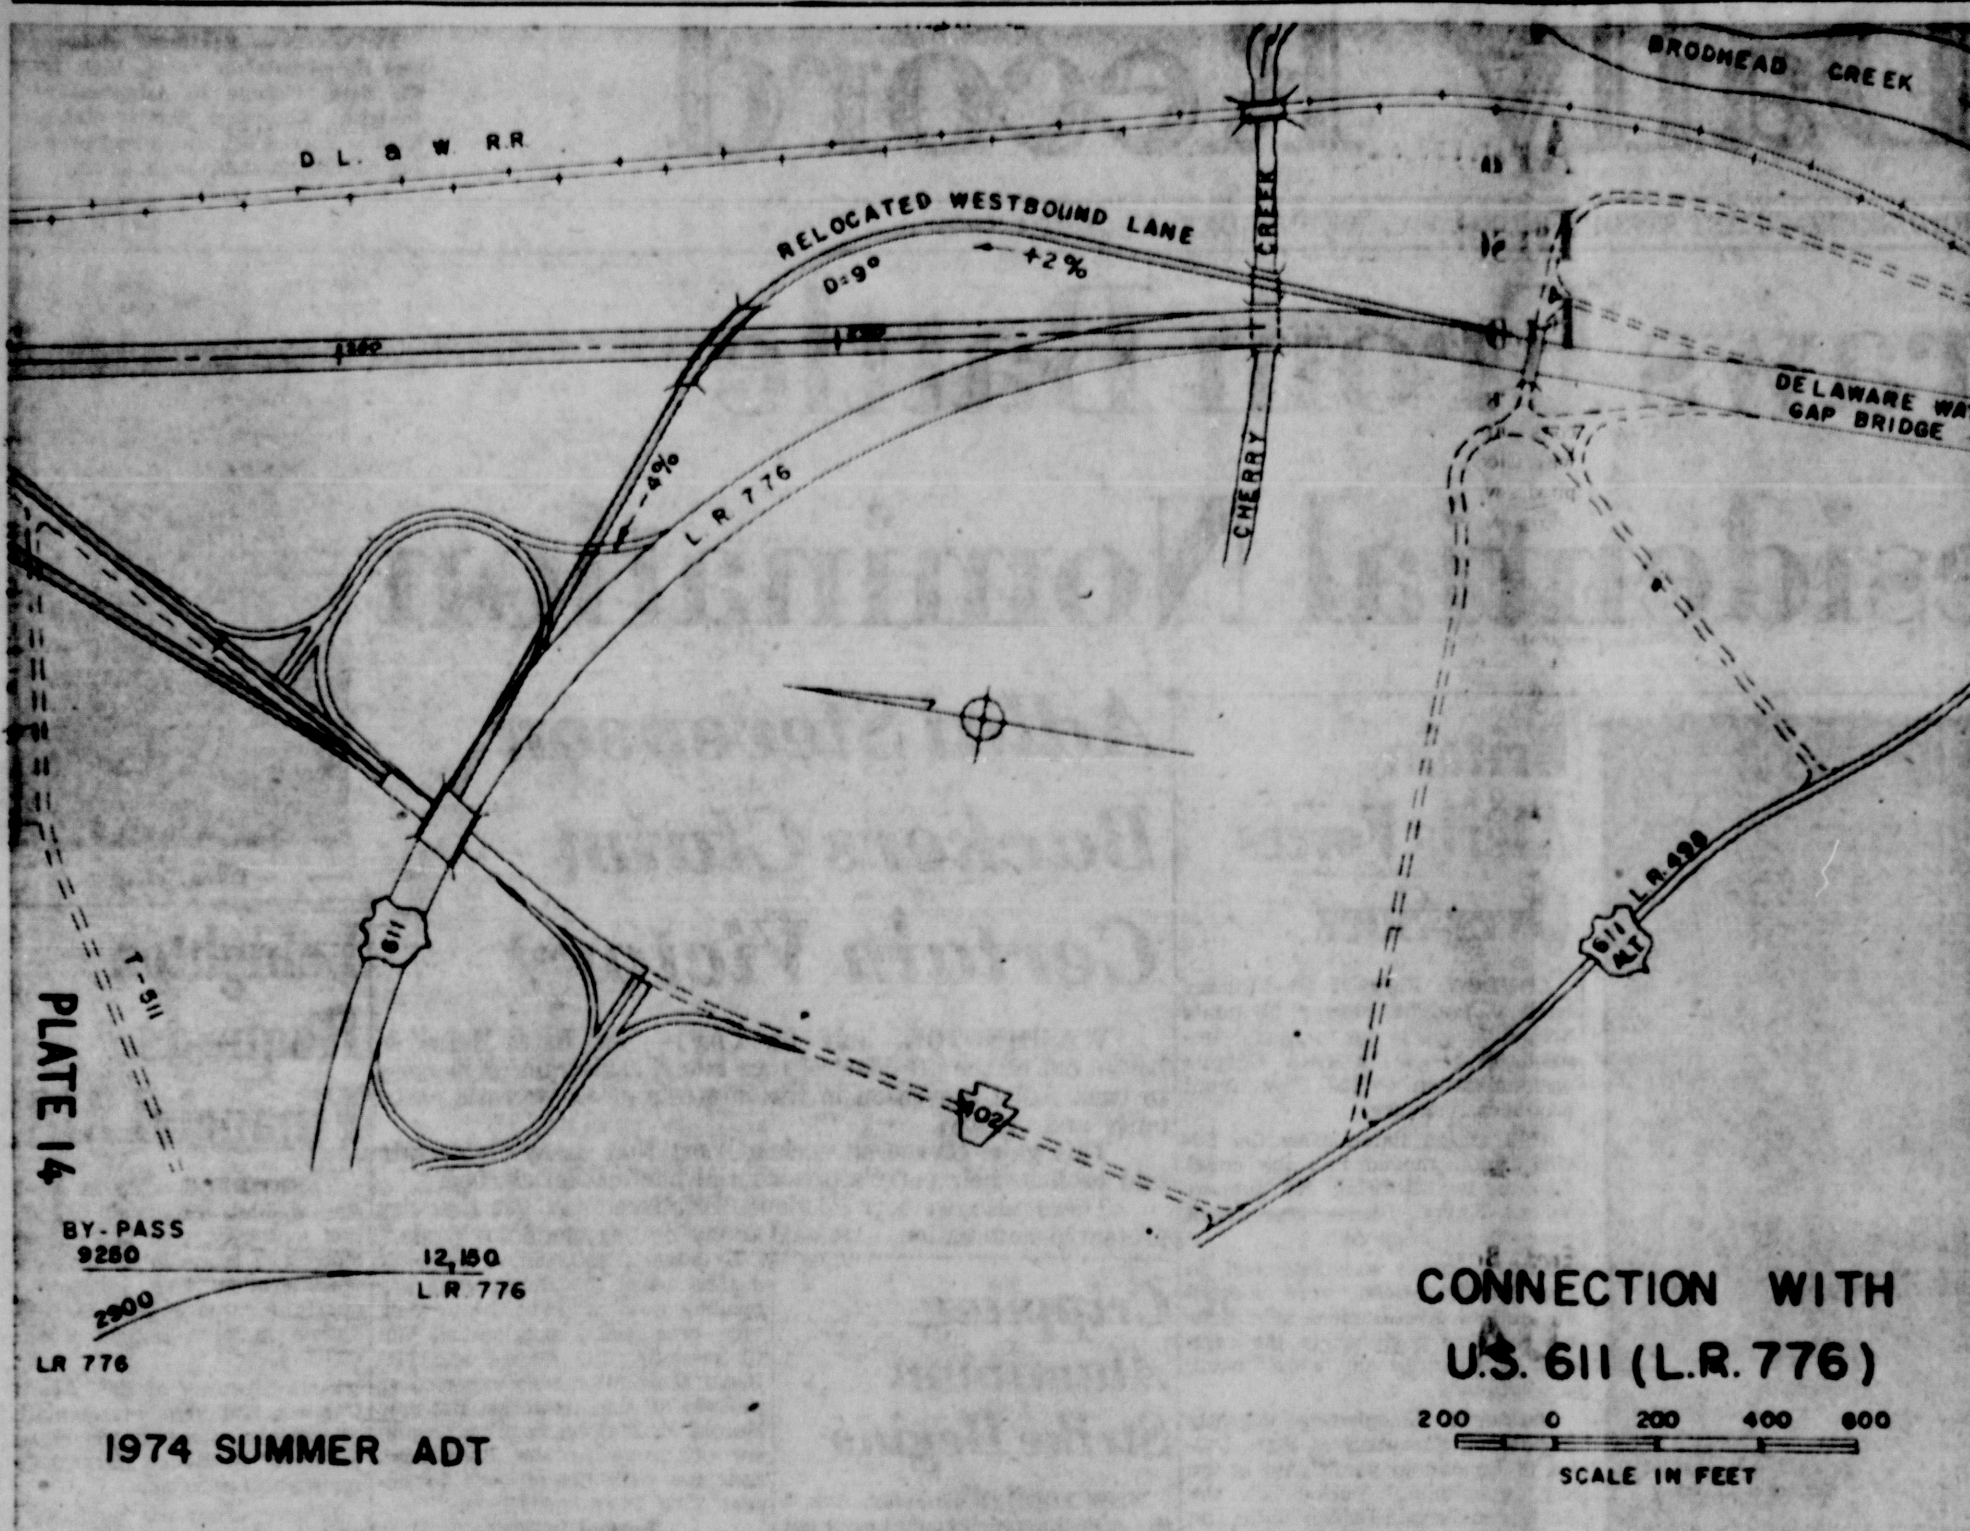

Citizen members installed today are: Victor C. Diehm, Hazleton; Thomas L. Moran, Scranton; Asbury W. Lee 3rd, Clearfield; Robert Baldwin, Erie, and Ralph C. Swartz, Allentown.

The Cabinet members are: William R. Davlin, secretary of commerce, and ex-officio chairman of the group; Genevieve Blatt, secretary of internal affairs; John R. Trosquari, secretary of labor and industry; and Robert L. Meyers, secretary of banking.

Typhoon Advancing NAHA, Okinawa, Wednesday, Aug. 1 (U-P)—Typhoon Wanda was reported early today heading closer to this U. S.-base island. Winds with gusts up to 80 miles an hour were felt on Okinawa. Service personnel were ordered indoors. Little damage was reported.

Thruway To Join With Gap Bridge

PRESENT PLANS for the proposed Thruway in this immediate area call for the interchange joining Route 611 shown in the map above.

The Thruway enters the area on a grade and joins the approach to the Delaware River Bridge at Delaware Water Gap.

Southbound traffic will enter at this point by means of existing U. S. 611 between Cherry Creek and the river bridge. The road will remain as it now is and become a part of the Thruway.

Northbound
Northbound traffic can leave on a directional ramp. Abandonment of Pa. Rt. 402 at the railroad, service provided by the proposed Thruway and changing trends in traffic patterns at the point all lead to the engineering recommendation that present ramps at the site be removed, officials said.

This is the final map and story to be carried in this series presented by The Daily Record.

Time Schedule Set For Three Bridges

RECONSTRUCTION of the three flood-battered bridges at Bartonsville are scheduled to be completed in 65 working days, the Highway Department disclosed yesterday.

Work on the battered spans was begun July 23 by the Herbert R. Imbt contracting firm.

The three bridges—two of which will be located on Route 611, and the third on Route 12—will be made of pre-cast, pre-stressed reinforced concrete floorings and curbs, the Highway Department reported.

Spans
The Route 12 bridge will be constructed of a single 64 foot span, while the bridge at the Tannersville end of the Route 611 detour will be 130 feet in length, being constructed of two 65 foot spans. The third bridge at the Bartonsville end of the detour, will be 124 feet long, being built of two 62 foot spans.

All three bridges will be 33 feet wide, providing for three lanes of traffic, the Highway Department said.

Meanwhile, the Highway Department also disclosed that the Irving Loomis contracting firm, Montrose, has begun work on two bridges in the Paradise Valley area.

Borings For Natural Gas Underway In Pike County Regions

Drilling May Hit Depth Of 7,000 Feet

SHOHOLA — Test borings are being made here by the Transcontinental Production Co. in hopes of hitting natural gas or oil.

The firm, an affiliate of the Transcontinental Gas and Pipeline Corp., of Houston, Tex., is prepared to drill 7,000 to 8,000 feet, Vernon R. Hughes, of Scranton, a company spokesman, told The Daily Record last night.

The borings began Monday on the property of Walter Hess, located about a mile-and-a-half west of here. By yesterday morning, casing had been driven 92 feet. The actual drilling is being done by Union Drilling, Inc., of Washington, Pa.

Meanwhile, there were widespread reports throughout the area that the company has leased considerable land here. However, Hughes declined to divulge just how much has been leased because, he said, it is not "a good policy" to release such information in a wildcat operation.

Primary Aim

However, Hughes made it clear his firm is primarily looking for natural gas. He pointed out that the drillings will go down to the Oriskany band, which is considered one of the more prolific gas producers in the Appalachian region.

As for hitting oil, a geologist for the U.S. Geological Survey in Harrisburg was completely pessimistic about the possibility of finding any deposits here. However, Donald Rima observed:

"From the wildcat's point of view, borings should be made in exactly the spot where the geologists say oil does not exist."

Emphasizing that he was only expressing his personal opinion, Rima pointed out that no oil deposits have been discovered in this area. He noted that the strata found at the surface in Pike County is the same as that found deeper in the oil regions in the western part of the state.

The very fact that outcrops of this strata are found at the surface in this area makes it unlikely that petroleum would be found here, Rima said.

"Several things must occur to have petroleum," he revealed. "These things have not been reported (here)."

"Much geological work has been done in the area," Rima added, "and there have been no favorable reports."

Hughes admitted that geologists have not considered this area to possess petroleum deposits. However, he contended that only "pin-point" drillings have been made in the region to date.

One geologist, who didn't want to be named, informed The Daily Record that there is oil at about 7,000 feet in this area.

Jury Hears Two Officers

SCRANTON, Pa., July 31 (AP)—Two high ranking Air Force officers testified today before a federal grand jury investigating reported "favors" in contract negotiations between the government and private individuals and firms.

Gen. Edward W. Rawlings, four-star commander of the Air Materiel Center at Olmsted Air Force Base, Middletown, and Brig. Gen. M. R. Tiddell from the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, were before the grand jury for slightly over one hour.

U. S. Atty. J. Julius Levy told reporters previously the grand jury would concentrate on the investigation of the Army Signal Corps Depot at Tobyhanna on the first two days of this week and would resume the Olmsted probe tomorrow.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 31 (AP)—Leo Gehlein, 25, was fatally injured today when his car was struck by a New York Central train at a grade crossing in suburban Depew.

VFW Drive Goes Over Top

THOMAS P. LAMBERT POST, Veterans of Foreign Wars officers met last night to hear encouraging reports from several committees.

Membership drive for the body has gone "over the top," a committee report showed, but the organization still needs "a few more" members to reach the full 1,000-member mark.

Special Report

A special report listed favorable details coming out of business transacted at the State VFW Department encampment recently. The next encampment will be held in Harrisburg.

The post has decided to hold a "Silver Anniversary" banquet in 1957. A special committee to make details for the celebration has been voted. Frank J. Weller will act as chairman of the committee.

BREAK FOR NEW BARRACKS at Tobyhanna Signal Depot came yesterday when Col. Robert Angster, depot commander, put foot to shovel and broke ground for new 50,000 square foot barracks which will house potential 500 enlisted men, full two company strength. Other officials stand in background along with men from construction company handling job. Cost will be approximately $754,000. Job will be completed on or about July 27, 1957.

W AABI Home Destined For County Aged

THE MONROE COUNTY Chapter of the Women's Association of Allied Beverage Industries is seeking to raise funds to establish a home for the area's needy aged.

Mrs. Rose Smith, chapter secretary, called upon residents to send their contributions to "Operation Needy-Aged," Box 4, East Stroudsburg, RD 3.

Pointing out that this project has no connection with any other in the county, Mrs. Smith said the non-sectarian, non-profit home will be located in Monroe County exclusively for county residents.

"Since there is only an oral agreement on this property," the chapter secretary said, "the exact location cannot be disclosed at this time."

To be eligible for admission, one must be a resident 60 years of age or older and of sound body and mind. The monthly charge for room and board will be $50, and each guest will be required to help with the care of his room.

Mrs. Smith said a board of directors will have complete management of the same, and will engage a couple as caretakers. The title of the property will remain as the property of the Needy-Aged of Monroe County with the directors acting as trustees. The money deposited to this account will be used exclusively for the home.

"Unless the residents of Monroe County are willing to make donations, this project will fail," said Mrs. Smith.

International Finance Corporation Foreign Aid Plans Feature Appeal

There is something rather appealing about the International Finance Corporation's plans to enter the foreign aid field, largely occupied during the past decade by people who believed that all one had to do to raise living standards in under-developed countries was to send them more money.

The ideal of helping countries better themselves is certainly a laudable one. But Americans have poured out more than $50 billion in the past 10 years to help feed and house and clothe people with disappointing and futile results. For when the food is eaten and the shoes wear out, the people of some lands are no better off than before.

The I.F.C., though, is going about fulfilling the ideal in a practical manner. What this agency—a development of the World Bank—proposed to do is not to mix a gravy for meat that isn't there. It proposes to help create a solid subsistence base where circumstances warrant investment.

Briefly the plan of operations will be something like this: Where there is a market, I.F.C. will help with investments to build a plant to supply that market. But it will not build a plant for people where there is no market for the plant's production.

Thus, none of the foolishness that marked U. S. Government spending of foreign aid under the Foreign Operations Administration, predecessor of the International Cooperation Administration, is contemplated.

There will, for example, be no such nonsense as building fish ponds for Liberians who do not like to eat fish, or building modern villages for Italians who prefer to live in their hillside caves, or building a $300,000 dehousing station for Saudi Arabian pilgrims where there isn't enough water to run the sterilizers. These, and other equally silly projects, were turned up by the Hoover Commission's probe into foreign aid.

The I.F.C. plans to take a hard-headed look at everything it goes into. It plans to make its investments pay off both for the investors and for the countries where the industries and plants are built.

The new agency has operating funds of only $78 million of which Uncle Sam contributed $35 million. It will not replace the foreign aid program now. But if foreign aid is ever to become anything but a handout, some such way as I.F.C.'s plan to build from the bottom instead of the top must be found.

Indeed, that is the only sound way to build a building or a country's economy. Lacy curtains and pretty wallpaper may be ideal in a new house, but the practical thing is to have a house to hang them in.

House Action Against Atomic Power Bill Turns Into Victory For People

The statesmanship of the Congressional public power bloc was interestingly demonstrated in its reaction to the defeat of the atomic power bill in the House last week.

It was, first of all, a bill well meriting the death sentence it got. Its purpose was to have the Atomic Energy Commission spend $400 million of the people's money to build reactors to produce electric power the people don't need.

The ostensible argument for this sizable piece of foolishness was that Britain and Russia may be overtaking the United States in the amount of power they plan to generate from atomic energy in the next several years. Even if that is so, it is a meaningless comparison. These countries are willing to sacrifice quality of reactor design for quantitative capacity because they need the power now. The United States, which doesn't need it now, is experimenting along several lines in an effort to develop superior reactors that will produce commercially competitive power.

The real reason for this bill's existence was, of course, the determination of the public power people to make industrial atomic energy a Federal monopoly regardless of whether or not such a course makes any sense. To that end they were ready to confuse the essential issue with irrelevant appeals to national pride.

Top Communist In United States Spreads Hate Over Land Through Latest Publication

It is difficult to understand how anyone can hate his native land, its traditions, its way of life, as much as William Z. Foster, top Communist of the United States, displays in his book, "The Twilight of World Capitalism."

Foster hates with passion, with unreasoned passion. Apparently, early in life, he revolted against his environment, his family and his religion. Foster tells of himself.

"My break with religion had a considerable material effect upon the course of my life. My mother had long wanted to make a priest of me, and her wishes were seconded by Father Joseph O'Connor, a noted orator of St. Theresa's Church in Philadelphia, and a friend of mine. He offered to send me to a Jesuit college to be educated for the priesthood. He and my mother were both disappointed, however, when I let it be known to them that my reading had already taken me far and away beyond the control of the Catholic Church."

This is what William Z. Foster wrote about the United States in 1919 when this nation had just emerged victorious from the most perilous war in its history: "American imperialism is like a monstrous, all-consuming spider. It has sucked up most of the available gold supplies of the capitalist world and hoarded them away at Fort Knox; it has made nearly every capitalist nation in the world its debtor; it is stripping the various capitalist nations of their foreign markets, of their economic strength, and of their national independence. It has set up a more or less definite political control over all the important capitalist countries in the world. Now it is stretching out its claws for the U.S.S.R., the European new democracies, and the colonial and semi-colonial countries, in the hope that it can overwhelm them and devour them at its leisure. This is the parasitic, cannibalistic role of American capitalism in the world today."

This is not an alien living in the United States in sheep's clothes. These are not the words of a foreigner who came to this country because he believed that its streets were paved with gold and was disappointed that he had to work for a living. These are the words of a native born American, educated in our schools, spending his childhood not in the slums of our big cities but in the New England town life of Taunton, Massachusetts. It is difficult to understand what influence, in school, at home, in church made him despise the land of his birth. Further, in the same vein, he wrote:

"The United Nations is a casualty of American imperialism's drive for world empire... the United States, unable to utilize the U. N. effectively for its power policy game, proceeded to bypass that organization altogether in many important matters. Among these were its infamous Truman Doctrine of fomenting civil war in Greece and other countries; its Marshall Plan to bring all the capitalist countries of Europe under its economic, political, and military control; its arbitrary dumping of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements; its cultivation of reactionary regimes in Germany and Japan in order to use these countries as military bases against the U.S.S.R.; its arbitrary interference in the Chinese civil war on the side of the feudalistic Chiang Kai-shek regime; its brutal subjugation and exploitation of the people of Latin America; and the formation of the military alliance, the North Atlantic Pact."

Again, he said: "The top men who are running our government, including President Truman, are tools of Wall Street. They don't want peace with the U.S.S.R.; their objective is world domination by the United States, which they are convinced they can accomplish by destroying the Soviet Union..."

Harry Truman has been called many names, but tool of Wall Street certainly does not fit. Here is an irrational but passionate anger that breeds such thinking and such language and one would imagine that it would be self-defeating. Nevertheless, many trained minds have followed Foster's leadership and have risked their honor, their careers, and in a few instances, their lives, for the cause of which he has long been the American representative. They could not have believed what he wrote, but they accept the disciplines which his party imposed. Such men have taken the Fifth Amendment like parrots by order of the party which Foster heads.

The Once Over

(Many announcements of modern stock splits conclude with the sentence, "If you have any questions concerning the plan we will be glad to answer them." — Ed. note.)

Dear Sir: Well, on account of I do not know many big corporation heads and have seldom been asked to fire questions at them, I appreciate your offer. It makes me feel important. Also I am a little mixed up about some of these many stock splits and I sometimes wind up asking "Who's on first?" I am left extra groggy trying to follow splits where I get two for one but the par value is cut in half, or something like that. So here goes with a few questions:

1. When you say you are giving me an extra share for each $50 par value share I own, but cutting the par value to 25 snickers is this not something less than a visit from Santa Claus. Am I not getting two fives for a ten? (You can see this early that I am dumb in financial matters. So let's take baseball. If a man weighing 200 pounds steals second would I be getting more for my bleacher seat if two men weighing 100 pounds did it?)

2. If a company which has 100,000 shares out decides to issue a total of 200,000 is it not watering the soup. If you and I have one bowl of chowder and we divide it with six other guys don't we own less chowder, and isn't the taste of clams weaker?

3. The last time I asked a corporation president about a split he said that it was done to bring the price down so more people can buy it, but how does that put me ahead? I always thought scarcity made anything more valuable than a plentiful supply. (This goes to show once more how stupid I am, but I still can't see how I am doing better on the golf links, for example, if somebody takes away the club that gave me 300 yard drives and gives me two nice clubs that are only good for 150 yards each.)

4. Sure I know that in some cases a corporation is so rich that a split works out to be so much gravy and my question is this: Is your corporation in that category and do you want to go ahead and answer now or go home and come back in two weeks? (Don't get me wrong, I ain't against stock splits. I just want to understand what they mean on account of it is important for me to quit when I am ahead and how can a stockholder know when he is ahead if you make it too complicated?)

Yours, Elmer.

From Asia comes news that Red China is using Santa Claus as an emblem on cereals and other products being shipped to many countries. . . .

THE DOCTOR IS IN—HE HOPES!

Unsuited In Diving And Mixed In Taps

There just might have been two Esther Williamses, had my plans crystallized. It was my youthful hope to become a high diver, however, and leave swimming to those lacking the grace and nerve necessary for the big splash. In retrospect, let me say one thing—I had the weight for coming down straight and fast.

This swanlike vocation was not to be. Part of it stems from having been young in a time of ugly bathing suits. Gray cotton knit they were, shapeless, clinging to reality. No figure molding elasticized this and that. Just an interim, however seaworthy, best forget.

Enrolled in the girls' advanced diving class (mute testimony to a slipshod curriculum which overlooked beginners diving) I stepped forth for a solo dive in the gray cotton shift which had been cunningly glamorized by a large scissors "V" in the rear neckline. So large a "V" it was that the instructor, the solo came off with spectacular results. Likewise, the suit.

The instructor was a thwarted writer or something—she hated her work as swimming-diving coach. And this unhappy mental attitude hit pay dirt as I emerged choking from the pool. Upon my sootless shoulders was visited such professorial wrath as you wouldn't believe.

"One more round trip dive," she howled, "without coming up fully clothed—and you are OUT!" I was already "out," as it happened, but still conscious enough to clutch at the elusive fragments of gray meekly awash in eight feet of water. Intent on remaining decently garbed, my diving form was "way off." Instead of cutting a dropless incision in the limpid pool and swimming straight ahead as my more gifted classmates did, I executed a deft circle downward, coming up behind the point of departure. Always at the feet of this glowering wretch who called herself teacher.

There is an even worse ending to this little anecdote. They transferred me to tap dancing, a course taught by the same instructor and destined to become the only one I ever took. (Others came close, but I beat this game by getting out voluntarily and early).

Though tap dancing wasn't as wet as diving, it too had its treachery. The semester's job was learning to tap dance like a reindeer, tossing the head to and fro whilst shuffling the feet in rhythm to reindeer music. This I did nimbly from the back row, eyes fixed on the young ladies ahead. But my thoughts were elsewhere, alas, and when examination time called forth each reindeer one by one for a solo... So I got mixed up! Archery, anyone?

Harry Oliver tells about an Indian and two other men who were riding across a big desert waste. They'd been in the saddle since early morn and their talk got around to the big dinner they hoped for when they got to town. The Indian was asked if he was hungry. He all but grunted, "No."

After they reached their destination, they ordered steaks with all the trimmings, and the Indian was then first to scrape his plate absolutely clean. "Ho...ho!" laughed one companion, "when we asked if you were hungry just an hour ago you said no." "No use hungry on desert," said the Indian calmly. "No grub there."

Robert S. Allen Reports

Truman Bent On Keeping Kefauver Off Demo Ticket

Washington, July 31—Harry S. Truman is taking off early for the political wars.

Instead of going to Chicago, as he had originally planned, just before the Democratic convention opens, the former President has decided to arrive there on August 9, four days before it officially convenes.

Two significant reasons are behind this unannounced change:

(1) To take an active backstage hand in drafting what Truman privately calls a "good" platform. For this purpose, he is already in close contact with key members of the Resolutions Committee; particularly its chairman, House Democratic Leader John McCormack, Mass. Truman is especially interested in the explosive civil rights plank.

He has let committeemen know that he favors a strong but not "extremist" stand on this issue. (2) To play a decisive role in the selection of the party's standard-bearer. Truman's determination on this applies as much to the vice presidency as to the top position.

The former President is bent on keeping Senator Estes Kefauver completely off the ticket.

Truman is once again as sore at him as he was in 1952. Then, sitting in the White House, Truman threw his weight against the Tennesseean and blocked his nomination. Early this year, Kefauver was advised that if he won the state presidential primaries, Truman would accept him as the party's choice. But that's all different now.

The former President is furious at the Tennesseean for his bitter personalities in the final phases of the crucial Florida and California primaries, which he lost to Adlai Stevenson.

The Illinoisian is not Truman's first choice this year. That preference is held by Governor Averell Harriman, although Truman has no illusions about the New Yorker's chances. Truman is fully aware Harriman's campaign has gotten nowhere. But Truman is outraged at Kefauver's personal attacks on Stevenson.

Kefauver knows that. He has been apprized of it by "Jiggs" Donohue, his national campaign manager. That isn't all the latter told him.

Donohue has also told Kefauver that Truman, Governor Frank Clement, the convention keynote, and Senator Albert Gore (D, Tenn.) are determined to "destroy him politically." That is, they aim not only to keep Kefauver off the national ticket but to kill him politically in Tennessee.

Kefauver takes this Donohue report seriously.

Donohue, who claims to be close to Truman, is the leading advocate in Kefauver's inner councils for a tie-up with Harriman. How Donohue squares such an alliance with his inside word of Truman's hostility to Kefauver is an involved story.

It's one of those cases of "wheels within wheels"—to describe it euphemistically.

Note: Truman's preferences for running mate are Governor Clement, Senator Gore, and Senator Hubert Humphrey, Minn., in that order. The former President is not against Senator Jack Kennedy, Mass., or New York Mayor Robert Wagner. He just isn't for them.

Hidden Scuttlers—Labor Secretary James Mitchell is saying some harsh things about that much-touted social security bill pending on President Eisenhower's desk.

In a memorandum to the President, Mitchell charges that two "hidden jokers" in the measure will deprive 250,000 agricultural workers of the social security benefits they now have.

These assailed provisions are listed by Mitchell as Section 201-(1) and Section 201-(1)-(2).

As enacted by the Democrats, they are loudly acclaiming the bill for accomplishing two far-reaching liberalizations: Lowering the retirement age for women to 62 instead of 65, and making payments to totally disabled at the age of 50 instead of at 65. These modifications it's estimated will add more than 1,000,000 beneficiaries to social security rolls this year.

But Mitchell's caustic memorandum points out that as a result of the two "hidden jokers," several hundred thousand migrant workers will lose their social security benefits entirely.

The plain-talking Labor Department head strongly advises the President to denounce these loopholes.

Following is what Mitchell says about them:

"Approximately one-half, or 250,000, migrant workers will be eliminated from the social security rolls by Section 201-(1)-(1). This figure does not include the number of 'dry-haul' and local agricultural laborers, housewives, older people, and others, who will no longer be induced to work a few weeks or months during the year to earn social security credits. There is a real danger here that the recruiting program of the farm placement service will be adversely affected and thereby more widespread use of foreign agricultural workers will be encouraged."

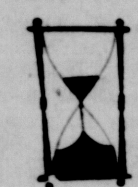

"Section 201-(1)-(2) would give statutory recognition to the crew leader system and would confer upon it a legal status inappropriate to its nature and most unfortunate for migrant workers. Deductions would be made from the worker's pay envelope without in many cases being recorded with the Social Security Administration, thus defeating the purpose of the amendment and depriving the migrant of honestly-earned benefits under the Social Security Act."

N. Y. Confidential —By Lee Mortimer

The Land of Law & Order: (Oh, Yeah.): Crimes so rampant in London, English papers called it "World's Wildest City" (which is what they slapped me down for calling it in my book "Around the World Confidential.")

"Arming the police may be the only way to stop the crime wave," president of the English Methodist Conference said. . . . Pitched battles with bottles, knives and guns are daily incidents in the heart of London. Daylight robberies and killings are commonplace. Gangs of youths attack American servicemen while bobbies look the other way.

Second Chapter: A new order sent to London police is an open invitation to the underworld to commit its crimes with impunity over the week-end. Coppers are told that with the introduction of the 42 hour week for Civil Service, Scotland Yard will not be able to supply solicitors (similar to our assistant district attorneys) on Saturday's to prosecute cases before Magistrates. If arrests are made on Friday "outside counsel" will have to be briefed. So as a matter of economy all policemen are asked "to ensure that wherever possible there should be no Saturday court work," by not making Friday arrests!

Culinary Note: My neighbor, Harvey "The Fireman" Rosen is planning to rename the famous El Borracho restaurant which he just purchased from Nicky Quattricchio. "El Borracho" means "the drunkard" in Spanish. Harvey is going to change it to Harvey's "El Shikker". Okay, I leave peacefully!

I Don't Care, Do You? Note as to the future of the House of Grimaldi: Grace's only visit to a Parisian couturier was to Countess Polignac, Rainier's cousin (she's owner of Lanvin Couture) and all her dresses were fitted to her present size. . . . Scott Brady is getting around with Lynn Barton who used to get around with George Raft. (Stop, I'm getting dizzy.) . . . Tab Hunter and Jan Chaney going steady. In Hollywood you are going steady if it's cocktails, then dinner.)

Beating the Band for the Bandinis (Whoever they are): Those closest to Kim Novak (her press agents, I presume) say that Count Mario Bandini is the real No. 1 man in her life and he'll be here in November to prove it. . . . And Countess Maria Louise Bandini (his sister, I presume) is said to be the newest romantic interest of a Group Captain named Townsend, Peter that is, and where did I hear that name before?

Richmond, Va., in 1742, is said to have been the site of the first fair in America.

Shawnee Golf Club Women Carnival Sat.

Shawnee—One of the season's gala events promises to be the Carnival Night party of the Shawnee Women's Golf Association, Saturday night, August 4, in the Cartoon Cafe of Shawnee Inn.

Members of Shawnee Country Club and their guests will dine and dance, enjoy a miniature midway, and be entertained by special acts in keeping with the carnival atmosphere. Several members will entertain parties of out-of-town guests for the occasion.

Mrs. Saul Bourne, president of the Association, has appointed the following as committee in charge of Carnival Night:

Mrs. Nelson Case and Mrs. Edwin B. Dexter, co-chairmen; and Mrs. William Waite, Mrs. Frank L. Patterson, Jr., and Mrs. Thomas V. Cullen.

Antique Show Opening Day Draws Crowd

People interested in antiques seem to develop a sixth sense of where to find them and the change in location of the Pocono Antiques Show and Sale this year seemed to cause them no difficulty.

They were out in force for the opening day of the Show yesterday at the gymnasium of the East Stroudsburg High School, and many of them found what they were looking for since they left carrying their treasures carefully.

The show is sponsored by the General Hospital Auxiliary for the benefit of their hospital projects, with Mrs. Gilbert Barthold as director. Mrs. George Hauser is in charge of the cafeteria staffed by members of the auxiliary. The cafeteria, located in the basement, yesterday was serving sandwiches and light lunches to dealers and patrons. Girl Scouts staffed the refreshment stand.

Receptionists were also members of the auxiliary under the direction of Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman.

The show will continue through Friday from 1 to 10 p.m. each day.

Bake, Food Sale Friday By Guild At Tannersville

Tannersville—The Women's Guild of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church, Tannersville, will hold a bake and food sale on Friday, August 3, from 3 p.m. until early evening at Fred Angimyer's Garage, Tannersville.

The sale is an annual event and will again feature a large assortment of homemade breads, pies, cakes, buns and doughnuts as well as homemade vegetable soup, baked beans, salad and other homemade dishes.

Bazaar Tonight

Craig Meadow—The annual bazaar of the Craig Meadow Lutheran Church will be held tonight at the church grounds, with Saturday selected as the rain date.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Just who do we think we are? Or maybe I'd better make that singular. Somehow, in order to feel any event is real, I have to have some kind of tangible connection with that event.

That fact came home to me the other night when skimming through the paper, I came across a small headline "Bus Carries 35 to Death in Finland." Ordinarily, I'd have kept on skimming, but because of that "Finland," I went back and read the whole item.

Why, I knew somebody from Finland! As if that would make any difference to the people who were killed or their families. It's the same with the sinking of the Andrea Doria. Because I had carried the story of Mrs. Antonacci going over for her daughter's wedding, I read the stories of the sinking with much more than a casual "tch! tch!" it might have evoked.

Any wedding, where I know somebody concerned or even have talked to the bride's mother on the phone, seems much more exciting. Most of us have to have flesh to clothe our ideas of people before they really matter to us.

There have been some rare individuals who have loved others, just because they existed, but most of us to feel another's joy or sorrow, have to know the tone of their voice, or the twinkle in their eye, or how proud their mothers are of them.

I might have started out more elegantly with a quote "What is man that Thou art mindful of him?" But that only makes the question a little more profound.

NEW SILHOUETTE . . . This coat in herringbone tweed suggests Empire silhouette by high-placed back belt.

HIGH POCKETS . . . The coat is straight, but twin pockets placed high, with connecting belt, suggest the new line.

BACK TALK . . . V-shaped half belt gives new look to this fur coat, and wool coat designed by Donald La Vigna.

Church Dating Newest Trend For Young People

The new theme is church dating.

Boys and girls are making dates to attend church just as they do parties.

As one mother put it, "I was against the all-night prom parties. But look what came out of it? I relented at the last moment because finally the community sponsored the party at a local restaurant, and all the young people were properly chaperoned. The idea was for the boys to stay at the girls' house after the party. The young people got home at 5 o'clock, went to sleep and then got up and went off to church."

It has continued. Church pews are filled with young couples, and even the church functions—socials, auctions and suppers—are attracting them.

The routine is that boy meets girl for church, then returns to girl's house for late breakfast or early Sunday dinner. "Very much like when I was a girl," one granny said. "In those days church was a standard date on Sunday, only usually the rest of your family tagged along to make sure you'd get there safely."

One popular girl, with several beaux, says she alternates her church dates.

"Sometimes," she says, "I go to my date's church and then go back to his house for dinner."

Along with new ideas in dating, there is a trend to spurn spend-money dating, one girl says. She thinks girls have a better sense of values nowadays, and do not insist that their dates spend money just to prove they like them. Very few young people, she says, go out to dance and dinner spots as their older brothers and sisters did. They'd rather save money for some special project.

A favorite date is the old-fashioned one—the boy comes to the house to play piano, watch television or play games like Scrabble and Yahtzee, the new rage. Ice cream and cookies or a sandwich may be eaten.

One girl says her beau helps her with the cooking every Sunday night and they have a wonderful time. Surprises are planned for the rest of the family who stay out of the way of the amateur chefs.

Young people go to bed earlier now on Saturday nights and get up earlier on Sundays. Sometimes they go to church early and go off on a picnic.

What's behind the early to bed, early to rise program, church, cooking and consideration for the date's pocketbook?

"Why, an engagement ring," says one girl, looking surprised, "if you save his money he'll be able to afford one. If he notes that you can cook as well as his mother, sew, and do not have an antipathy to dish water and dust cloths and loathe spending money, he won't have too many questions to ask himself when he gets ready to propose."

There is no doubt that the trend to early marriage is slowing down the pace of young people.

Sliced cucumbers, black olives and canned pimientos make a delicious and attractive first course.

Safari Coats Designed For This Autumn

If you saw a young man in the African jungles taking a bead on a man-eating tiger, what would you guess as his business?

Oil man? Wall Street tycoon? Rich man's son?

These would be the usual guesses, and they'd all be wrong, if the young man you glimpsed was Donald La Vigna, because when he is not hunting big game in Africa, Don is designing coats in New York's Seventh Avenue.

This husky young sportsman spends nine months of the year working hard at turning out the kind of suave, well-bred cashmere coats that American women like to wear. The other three months he spends bagging leopards, elephants and other terrifying monsters of the jungle.

"It keeps a guy in shape," says Don, who is tall, dark and handsome. "You don't really get much exercise over a designing board, you know. And although you meet plenty of man-eaters in the fashion business, it isn't really the same thing as tracking them down in the jungle."

This young designer gets fashion ideas from his jungle treks, also. He has learned the points that make a coat comfortable for action. He has observed the kind of clothes that look at home in an airliner as well as on a city street. He has studied the kind of clothes preferred by international travelers. And on his way back from the jungle, he sometimes stops off to pick up some distinctive tweeds in Scotland or some hand-woven wools in Italy or Arabia.

In his current collection, La Vigna highlights dashing cashmere and tweed coats with that global look, suggesting the new Empire silhouette by various devices such as high-placed back belts or front pockets.

Buzzards Start For Canada, But Visit Florida

Delaware Water Gap—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Buzzard, Miss Camille Buzzard and Miss Carol Snyder, returned from a vacation trip to Florida. Originally planning to go to Canada, and with a trip carefully mapped for them, but when the Buzzards started out Florida seemed to beckon.

They spent some time in Orlando, and Fort Lauderdale, from which they made excursions to Miami to see the new Aquarium and to visit Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Shafer, former Monroe County folk, in their home in Hialeah Park. Going to Hollywood, Florida, the Buzzards called on Mr. and Mrs. Chet LaBar, who formerly resided in Stroudsburg. While in Fort Lauderdale, Miss Snyder celebrated her 16th birthday.

After visiting St. Augustine and while on a leisurely trip north, the party stopped in Americus, Georgia, and called on Mrs. A. G. Ketchum, who for some years conducted a tea room in Water Gap.

Calvary Church Picnic Held At Iona Park

Bangor—The annual Sunday School picnic of the Calvary Church of the Nazarene was held Saturday at Iona Park when both dinner and supper were served.

Sponsored by the Win One Class and the Sunday School, there were 61 present. Harold Thompson was in charge of arrangements, and Mrs. Dale Hilkert and Mrs. Warren Hilkert were in charge of games. Prizes were awarded to William Hilkert and Patricia Moore, with other group prizes for races and contests.

Home-made Clay

Clay for the children can be made from one cup of flour, one-half cup salt and one teaspoon powdered alum mixed with a third of a cup of water, reports Marguerite L. Duvall, family life specialist at Pennsylvania State University. If kept in a covered container when not in use, the clay will keep about two weeks, she adds.

Cherry Lane Bazaar

Cherry Lane—The Sunday School of the Cherry Lane Methodist Church is holding its annual bazaar on Thursday night on the church grounds with many articles for sale. Rain date is Saturday.

State Officers Visit Camp 235 P.O. Of A. Wed.

Mount Pocono—Camp 235, Mount Pocono Patriotic Order of Americans, held their regular meeting Wednesday night, July 26, at Tannersville. There were 38 present and Mrs. George DeHaven presided.

A report was given of the presentation of the U. S. flag to the Tobyhanna-Mt. Pocono Cub Pack, and plans were made to present a flag to the Coolbaugh school at a later date.

The State president, Mrs. Marie Hiltner, of Philadelphia; assistant State president, Mrs. Mary Heilman, of Allentown; and many other state officers were visitors. A covered dish supper was enjoyed.

The president hopes for a good attendance at the next meeting, August 8, when there will be nomination of officers.

Teen-Agers Join For Party On 15th Birthdays

Tobyhanna—Miss Barbara Panna and Miss Lydiann Stowarz celebrated their 15th birthday together on July 2. A party was given by their mothers, Mrs. Joseph Stowarz and Mrs. Charles Knecht at Tobyhanna State Park.

Those attending were Judy Dussinger, Beverly Wash, Emma Jean Dailey, Pat Panna, Lorraine Stiff, Janet Stiff, Richard Del Donno, Diane Stiff, Diana Potts, Merton Quick, Billy Paculli, Martin Stiff, Wayne Hussar, Kenneth Hussar, Ronald Stiff, Larry Stiff, Robert Panna, John Barlob, Robert Rosick, George Howard, Charles Tompkey, Margaret Regan and John Moore.

The girls received many gifts.

Auction Sale At Fire Hall Benefits Church

Delaware Water Gap—The results of the auction sale held at the fire hall last Thursday night by the women of the Presbyterian Church, proved satisfactory to the sponsors. Despite a small attendance because of rain, almost all the donated articles were sold.

Interesting contests, such as that of the Rev. Luther Markin and a member of his congregation bidding on a mop wringer, caused much amusement. Everything was sold except an electric stove and a room new oil heater.

Mrs. Guyton Kemper was chairman of the project. Francis Drake and M. E. Leffler handed up articles for bidding. H. J. LaBar was the auctioneer and kept everyone alert with his ready flow of comments.

Many of the articles sold were new things that had been sent in for crying at the auction. Teen-agers were keen bidders on an antique phonograph, tennis racquets, a World War One gas mask and cameras.

Pocono Union Church Bazaar Thursday Night

Headville—Thurs. night, Aug. 2, the annual bazaar of the Pocono Union Ladies' Aid Society will be held on the church lawn. All types of fancy work and baked goods will be on sale, as well as refreshments. There will be a Parcel Post sale and a children's grab bag.

Donations of baked goods for the sale, as well as 25c articles for the Parcel Post sale will be greatly appreciated. The Ladies' Aid for many years has been assisting the church.

Rain date will be on Friday night, Aug. 3.

Local Salon Gets 8 et 40 State Award

Monroe Salon No. 474, 8 et 40, received an award at the state convention for the largest contribution to the Holiday Fund, which provides money for hospitalized TB children at Christmas, Easter and birthday parties.

Announcement of the state award was made at the indoor picnic supper held by the salon at Shiffers Cabin in Bartonsville on July 26. Mrs. Lydia Christenson, local chapeau, gave a report of the 8 et 40 convention which was held in Philadelphia. The local salon was represented by Mrs. Christenson and Chapeau-elect Nettie Phillips.

There was a large turnout of members and abundance of food. Mrs. Frances Ransberger had baked a birthday cake for Peg LaBar and Eva Brodsky, who were honored by the group.

The picnic committee included Mary Altemose, Lulu Miller and Ruth Eppley. Mrs. Granville Shiffer was hostess to the group.

The next meeting will also take the form of a picnic supper to be held on August 23 at the home of Mrs. William Ransberger, Shawnee. A card party will follow the supper.

Ever mix canned greengages plums with canned sweet cherries? Nice, too, with fresh orange sections added.

United Press Radio had a very interesting release this past Monday about the residents of San Bruno, California, holding a housewarming for neighbors they'll never see, in a house that's leaving town. It seems that last fall a group of touring Russian contractors were charmed by a house there and purchased it, furniture and all, for shipment to their homeland. Residents of San Bruno were delighted by the idea . . . and so, prior to this week's dismantling of the attractive, typically American residence, they decided to hold a party. Coffee and Russian pastries were served, and the guests showered their absent neighbors with such basic American home equipment as pot holders, plastic slip covers, waxed paper, shelf paper, instant coffee, spray deodorants, detergents, and even a few cosmetics.

I enjoyed reading that news item over the radio . . . not just because it seems to be another ray of light shining through the gradually widening door of international understanding, but because I can imagine the expression of wonder in the eyes of Russian women and children when they are finally admitted to this model American home, set up somewhere in the sterile depths of Moscow. Strangely enough, that news item set the tempo of my entire day. Going through the store, I saw the merchandise from an entirely different viewpoint . . . not as it impresses me, as an American woman, accustomed to lovely articles which I can afford, but as it might impress a Russian woman, who can hardly afford the substantial, unimaginative items of her everyday life.

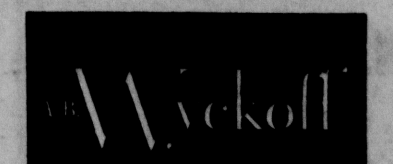

Standing before our black and white cosmetic and jewelry window, I could sense the excitement a Russian woman might feel as she drank in the shimmering glamor, the exciting luxury of rhinestones and lavishly packaged perfumes for the first time, and realized that all this glamour costs only a few American dollars. When one reads that Russians pay more than many Americans earn in two weeks for a pair of shoes . . . Well, you get the idea, don't you?

Inside the front door, the fragrance of our toiletries department set me dreaming again. There are Russian perfumes, of course . . . but they are not the finest in the world, and they don't have the most romantic names. The most famous, I remember reading somewhere, was named for the daughter of Stalin or some other big wheel. Even in her desire to be sweetly feminine, the Russian woman is reminded, apparently, that she is just a small cog in an enormous wheel which is watched over sternly at all times, even when she's in a mood to be sentimental. What, I wondered, would my Russian neighbor think of our luxurious soaps, dainty compacts, sparkling dresser sets, and dozens of creamy lotions?

That's how it was whenever I went in our store yesterday. On all sides of me were many splendid things, most of them well in reach of the average American pocket book. But does the average American customer really appreciate all this? Perhaps so. On the other hand, it might be a good thing if we were to import to our country a typical Russian house, a typical Russian wardrobe, and try to live, for just one period of 24 hours, a typical Russian day.

Patch Stucco Quickly As Possible

NOW AND then people who live in stucco homes wake up in the morning to find that a section of the stucco has bulged out or fallen away. A situation of this sort calls for immediate action.

Use a cold chisel to remove all the loose stucco right down to the lath. It's also a wise idea to back the edges of the surrounding stucco. Clean the opening and then wet down the edges of the surrounding stucco. This is important for if the edges are left dry they will absorb so much water out of the patch that the patch will not harden properly and will probably fall out in a short time.

Mixture

Patching for stucco can be made by mixing one part Portland cement with three parts sand. You can also get a package of dry stucco patching at your paint and hardware store. This only requires the addition of water for application. If your present stucco has been colored, select a colored patching stucco that most closely matches it.

The patching stucco or cement mortar is worked into the opening with a trowel and you want to apply sufficient pressure to the plastic mixture so that it is forced into the lath where it will make a strong bond when hard. Smooth out the surface to match the rest of the work and keep your patch damp and covered for several days.

Plants Need Protection

THE WARMER the weather the more important it is to protect transplants against shock. Some gardeners find special hormone preparations available for that purpose are satisfactory and others go a step further by using a transplanting solution which includes such hormones in addition to all the essential food elements.

Success with small plants is excellent if the roots are held into the planting hole while the starter solution is poured in with the other hand. As soon as the hole is filled, dry soil is pushed into the liquid to settle close to the roots. No firming of the soil is practiced, as that would compact the soil to the detriment of the tender roots that must live in it.

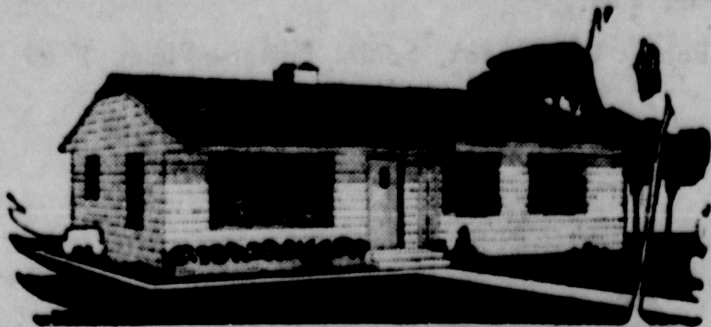

Remove Old Coat Of Paint

IF FURNITURE has been painted so often that the old coating is thick and lumpy, it's wise to remove the old paint before applying the new. This treatment calls for paint and varnish remover, steel wool and a scraping tool of some sort. The remover is applied to a section of the piece, allowed to soak in and soften the old coating, then scraped off and cleaned with steel wool or fine sandpaper.

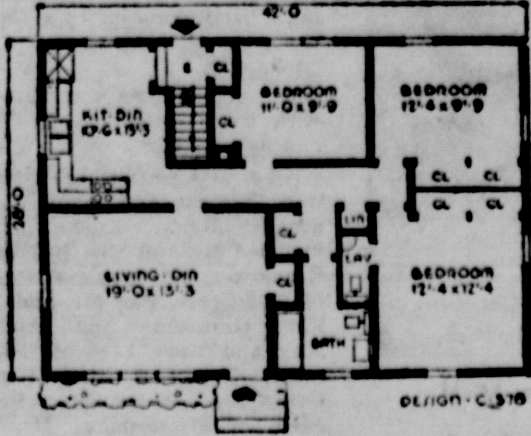

When the remnants of the remover have been finally cleaned off—usually with a solvent—a priming coat of enamel undercoat can be applied and the final coats brushed onto this receptive base.

Window Helps In Painting

WHEN painting the wall of a room, it's usually wise to begin on the window wall and work back into the room so that the reflections on the wet paint will reveal any spots that have not been properly coated.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-378

DESIGN C-378. A rectangular plan and gable roof assure the utmost economy in construction through labor savings and elimination of waste.

This is such a plan, consisting of three bedrooms, a bath, lavatory in front bedroom, kitchen-dinette, large living room and full basement.

Wide siding on the exterior is combined with shutters, brick planters and broken eave lines for a low, attractive house.

There are seven closets, including coat closets and linen cabinet. The kitchen has cabinets on two walls and a large space for a dining table. Floor area is 1176 square feet and cubage is 22,314 cubic feet.

Chinch Bugs Cause Brown Spots On Average Lawn

BROWNED LAWN PATCHES should not be blamed on lack of soil moisture without making sure that this really is the cause. While the home gardener cannot be expected to become an expert on lawn diseases, the average home turf is relatively free from them. One pest, however, that the gardener should be able to identify is chinch bugs.

They are sucking pests lurking close to the ground surface. They are about an eighth of an inch long and as adults, are black marked with white. Look for them at the edges of the ugly brown patches they cause while the sun is high in the sky.

Hot Weather

They thrive on hot, dry weather and that is the reason that lawns watered well are relatively free of them. One per cent rotenone dust applied at the rate of 25 pounds to 1,000 square feet will put an end to them and the newer Chlordane preparations are equally as deadly to them.

Squeaks Plentiful

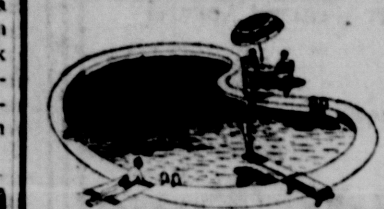

SQUEAKY FLOORS are no monopoly of older houses. For various reasons, they develop occasionally in new homes, too.

Suggestions

The bureau suggests other methods of preventing the dripping of water from existing water closet tanks to the floor:

1. Installation of a drip tray under the tank.
2. Use of an electrical anti-condensation unit in the tank to warm the water to above room temperature.
3. Forced ventilation of the bathroom or powder room by means of a ventilating fan.

Ready-Mixed Paint Needs Mixing

READY-MIXED paint needs mixing. When you open the can, you'll notice a dirty looking liquid, under which will be a mass of heavy material. Don't think your dealer had that paint on the shelf too long. It's normal.

Pour

Pour off most of the liquid into another clean can. Stir the remaining liquid into the paste with a sturdy, sliver-free stick. Pour a little more of the liquid back and work that into the paste. Break up all lumps as you work until the paint is of even consistency. Keep this up until all of the liquid has been mixed in.

Then pour the paint from one can to the other and back again several times.

Your ready-mixed paint will then be mixed.

Clean With Soap

IF YOU HAVE foam rubber upholstery, don't use cleaning fluids. It may deteriorate the rubber. Stick to soapsuds.

Screens Should Be Painted To Halt Rust

DOOR and window screens of steel or galvanized iron should be painted to prevent rusting. While copper and bronze wire screens do not rust, they should also have a protective coating because a corrosive wash develops that stains and disfigures any light-colored areas below them. Spar varnish or special screen paint should be used.

Spray Gun

Both coatings can be applied with a spray gun, brush or an inexpensive screen-painting tool, made from a block of wood and covered, on one side, with carpet. While the paint or varnish film is still wet, it's wise to shake the screen to keep the openings in the mesh from becoming clogged. The wire should be painted—on both sides—before frame is coated.

Trim Evergreen In Late August

THE TRIMMING of evergreen hedges should be done in late August or early September, so that the new growth will soon hide the bare spots and stubs. Late September or October pruning often leaves the hedges looking rather shabby during the winter.

with the new GRADE NAMES of WEST COAST LUMBER

We can supply all your needs...

A substantially increased volume of West Coast lumber is now being grade-stamped, and buyers are warned to be on the lookout for fraudulent grade stamps, according to H. V. Simpson, Manager of the West Coast Lumber Inspection Bureau.

Simpson pointed out that only inspectors and supervisors employed by the Bureau, or graders who are under the direct supervision of the Bureau, may apply Bureau grade stamps, and that such stamping by any other individual is illegal.

"All Bureau grade stamps are registered," Simpson said. "In the past the Bureau has made every effort to halt infringement, even to the point of prosecuting offenders. This policy will be vigorously continued."

Official stamps of the West Coast Lumber Inspection Bureau are identified by a shield used in conjunction with the letters "WCLB."

"West Coast manufacturers heartily endorse the extension of grade-stamping throughout the industry," Simpson said. "We intend to make sure the buyer is given the legal protection to which he is entitled."

10 Entries Ready For Keystone Softball Tournament

Two Probables Also Listed For Classic Set For Here

TEN ASSURED entries and the possibility of two more were listed as the Keystone Amateur Softball Association completed plans for its state-wide double-elimination tournament at Gordon Giffels and Stroudsburg Playground Fields this weekend.

The tournament will bring together the best softball teams in the State of Pennsylvania, including expert-rated outstanding players in the United States.

The probable are defending champions Greensburg and New Castle. The tournament will bring together the best softball teams in the State of Pennsylvania, including expert-rated outstanding players in the United States.

Play will begin Friday at 6:30 p.m. when the 772 Air Force team takes on Twin City in the inaugural. Two other games will follow in the first night's opening series.

Following the AF-TV setto, Jim Thorpe will meet Allentown, and Penny Filers will come up against Bethlehem.

All of Friday's games will be played at Gordon Giffels Field with at least the final two clashes scheduled for play under the arc lights.

Ticket Sales
Monroe County Softball Commissioner Forest Fabel announced last night that dollar tickets, covering all games are on sale at the Community Jewelers, Main St. He also reported that series tickets, which includes admission to at least three games, are available. The charge for series tickets is 50 cents.

The tournament will resume action all day Saturday, including evening competition and continue through Sunday. A portion of Saturday's contests are slated for the Playground diamond.

Volunteers Needed
Monroe County Softball League President Joe Whalen has issued a call for 30 persons to take over official scorekeeping duties. Interested individuals are urged to contact Whalen or Fabel today.

Fabel also requests that members of the teams in the MCLSL report to the field for final preparations.

Backstop, a key position on the club, will feature youth in the Strouds' Paul (Doc) Lim and Tannersville's Karl Weingartner and Saylorsburg's Denny Roth. Kunkletown's Paul Serfass and the Strouds' Al McCormick, good guardians of any hot corner, round out the infield at third base.

In the outfield, power and defensive ability is the formula. Comprising the true, star-studded echelon are the Strouds' fence-busting Randy Morris and good field and good hit Charley Little; Saylorsburg's flying kite Don Sweda; Lake Harmony's consistent Larry Hill; Bushkill's solid sensation Harold Freeman; and Kunkletown's versatile Floyd Kresge.

With this formidable array representing the PML when the Boston Hoboes invade Gordon Giffels Field, Aug. 19, the fur is sure to fly. No doubt the professional tramps from the Hub have several key players in their lineup, but on any given day we'd hate to face this PML crew of youth and experience, plus fielding and batting ability.

While there may be pros and cons concerning the bypassed, Getz and Company can hold their heads high until a better team comes along. Which will be a long, long time.

VFW Notches 3rd 2nd Half LL Triumph

VETERANS OF Foreign Wars streaked to its third victory in five games last night, besting National Bank 9-4 in a Stroudsburg Little League game.

The victory moved VFW, first half champs, into undisputed position of third place. It was the third loss in four starts for the Bankers.

Jack Heckman pitched all the way to chalk up the mound win for the Vets. Warren Loney, who also went the distance, was tagged with the loss.

VFW broke out of a 2-3 deficit to score and went into a 7-3 lead in the second inning. They added two more in the late frames to salt the game away.

Grover led the VFW attack with three-for-three.

New Starting Time
League President Jack Mullins announced that a new starting time of 6:15 p. m., for all games will become effective Monday, Aug. 6.

Today's Game
Colonial Diner and Peoples Coal will meet in regular league duel today, starting at 6:15 p. m.

Robinson's 3-Run Hits Nips Braves

JERSEY CITY, July 31 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, returned to the Brooklyn lineup in a minor shake-up by Manager Walt Alston, swatted a two-run homer in the second inning and then drove in the tie-breaking run with a long single in the ninth tonight as the Dodgers defeated the National League leading Milwaukee Braves 3-2.

Robinson's bust-up single, his third hit of the game, scored Pee Wee Reese, who had singled to open the frame against reliever Dave Jolly and then moved up to second on a sacrifice by Duke Snider.

The Braves, who had whipped the Dodgers seven straight times, had tied the count at 2-all in the top of the ninth on Eddie Mathews' 20 home run as Milwaukee got rid of righthander Carl Erskine, who sought his eighth straight victory.

No. 24 for Adcock
The only other Milwaukee homer came on Joe Adcock's 24th homer in the second inning, giving him 10 in nine consecutive games against Brooklyn.

It was Adcock, however, who ended Milwaukee's ninth-inning rally, proving an easy third out at the plate when he tried to score after Henry Aaron had been forced out at home.

Senators Nip White Sox 3-2 On Wild Pitch

CHICAGO, July 31 (AP)—Dick Donovan wild-pitched home the decisive run here tonight as the Washington Nationals defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-3. Lou Berberet, who had singled and reached third on a single by Pedro Ramos and an infield out, scored on Donovan's wild toss in the fourth.

REESE, NOT PEEWEE, BUT BILLY—Billy Reese, Heller-Lloyd-Howell shortstop, fouls one off in action in an East Stroudsburg Little League game last night. Reese, a mite smaller than the Dodger's Harold Pee Wee saw his team defeat National Bank 5-3. Catcher is the Lumberman's Bill Williams who waits in vain for horsehide going over his head.

Twin City TV Gains Lead In MC Loop

TWIN CITY TV, defending champions, took over undisputed possession of first place in the Monroe County Softball League last night by walloping IAM 15-4 at Stroudsburg Playground Field.

A 11-run spurge in the fourth inning gave Twin City a comfortable lead.

21-Boy Roster Of Babe Ruth League 'B' Team Released

STROUDSBURG-BARRETT Babe Ruth League Commissioner Doug Schoonover last night released a 21-boy roster which will comprise the "B" team.

Slated for a drill today under the tutelage of Schoonover are members of five teams in the six-club B circuit. Today's workout is set to begin at 5:30 p. m.

Schoonover will handle the team until regular coach John Whitehead returns from a vacation.

Richard Rinker, Roland Gardner, Richard Cranney and John Corson, Engine Works; Bill Schoonover, Charles Lupin, Carl Kohl, Joe Steele, Foster Ladree and Ray Uhl, Line Material.

Also Davies, Leo Frailey and Kemmerer, Ronson; Evan Reese, Vaughn Howell and Ron Bergman, Worthington Mower; John Hindman, Doug Metzgar, O'Connor and Doug Townsend, International Boiler Works.

able 13-4 pad to carry the rest of the way.

It was the third victory for unbeaten Twin City in the second half race. The loss evened IAM records at 2-2.

Share Pitching
Red Batton and Steve Balch shared the hill chores for the TV with the former grabbing the win. Charley Posten went all the way for the loss.

Chambers, of the losers, led the game's hitters with a four-for-four performance. Bill Crooks topped Twin City's batsmen with three-for-five, including a double.

Today's Game
First half champions Nebel's Market will meet Gray's Chevrolet in a league contest at the playground diamond today, starting at 6:30 p. m.

Tigers Clip Boston 6-4 Behind Lary
DETROIT, July 31 (AP)—Frank Lary pitched the Detroit Tigers to a four-hit victory over the Boston Red Sox tonight and Al Kaline and Ray Boone cracked home runs in the Tigers' 6-4 triumph.

Kaline batted across three runs with his 17th home run, a double, and a single, and Boone had a triple and a single in addition to his 14th home run.

Lary, winning his 10th game against 11 setbacks, walked only 4 men, but 3 of them scored.

He issued passes to Ted Williams and Mickey Vernon in the first before Jackie Jensen tripled home two runs. He walked Williams again in the sixth and Vernon followed with his 12th home run.

Extra Help
Despite the long-ball hitting, the Tigers needed a walk, a sacrifice, two singles and a sacrifice fly to bring in the deciding runs in the seventh. Bob Porterfield who started and lost his ninth game against three victories, gave up the leadoff walk and threw wild on Lary's sacrifice. Reliever Ike Delock gave up a single to load the bases before a sacrifice fly and Kaline's single scored two runs.

TANNERSVILLE'S Johnson Dint, a member of the Pocono Mountain Little League, will meet a team composed of the LL team's fathers, in an exhibition game at the Tannersville Little League Field, Thursday, starting at 6 p. m. Bill Horst will manage the "Fathers."

PITTSBURGH, July 31 (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder Jerry Lynch, still suffering from pleuritis of the right arm, went back on the disabled list today and will be out for the rest of the season. Pitcher Dick Hall, who has had a sore arm, replaced Lynch on the Pirate roster.

H-L-H Hands Bankers Second Eastburg Loss

HELLER-LLOYD-HOWELL handed National Bank its second East Stroudsburg Little League setback last night, defeating the Bankers 5-3.

Six errors by National Bank fielders and Doug Westcott's four-run homer in the fourth frame pushed the combine nine into a lead it never relinquished.

Metzgar paced the winners at the plate with two hits, while Williams garnered a pair for the Bankers.

Tomorrow's Game
No game is scheduled in the circuit today, however tomorrow Heller-Lloyd-Howell will meet Cramer's at Little League Park, starting at 6:15 p. m.

Strouds Face Bangor Under Lights Away

FRANK RADLER's pennant-winning Pocono Mountain League Strouds will take on Bangor of the Bi-State League in an exhibition game under the arc lights at Bangor's Memorial Stadium today. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

Bangor will send its undefeated hurler Larry Raph to the hill in an attempt to stop the Strouds. Raph, Harold Jacobsen or Bill Sommers will get the mound turn for the locals.

Raph is unbeaten in five outings this season, coming up with three shutouts in the quintet of wins.

Probably Starters

The probable starting lineup for the Strouds, aside the opening twirler, will have Russ Staples, catching; Dan Eppley, first base; Dick Gray, second; Paul (Doc) Lim, shortstop; Al McCormick, third base; Dave Nevil, left field; Charley Litts, center, and Rhody Morris, right.

Seek 21st Win

The Strouds will be after their 21st triumph in 22 games. They are undefeated in exhibition games, having knocked off five straight independent foes.

Prior to the Strouds game, Bangor will take on Portland in a regular Bi-State duel, starting at 6 p.m. Bob Egert will hurl for Bangor.

Bushkill Nine Issues Challenge

BUSHKILL—Bushkill of the Pocono Mountain League has issued a challenge to any team in the Bi-State for an exhibition game at home or away.

Bi-State nines wishing further information are urged to contact Tommy Carmella, Bushkill manager.

Drove Four Winners

BEN WHITE drove four Hambletonian trotting winners—Mary Reynolds in 1933, Rosalind in 1936, The Ambassador in 1942 and Volo Song in 1943.

Win Shawnee Ladies Golf Tournament

THE FOURSOME of Mrs. Herbert Behrens, Mrs. Robert Bixler, Mrs. Homer Heller and Mrs. Saul Bourne captured the Shawnee Women's Golf Association's Low Net Ball of Foursome Tournament at the Shawnee Country Club course yesterday.

Low Gross Victor

Mrs. Bourne also won low gross with an 88. Mrs. George Busch grabbed off top honors in the low putt contest with 28.

Guests participating were Mrs. Ben Fansler, Mrs. Vasquez, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Becker, Mrs. Kobbe and Mrs. Heller.

Carter 8-5 Choice Over Satterfield

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 31 (P)—Sturdy Harold Carter today was installed an 8-5 favorite over unpredictable Bob Satterfield in their 10-round heavyweight fight tomorrow night.

It will be their third meeting this year. Carter won a decision and draw in the other. Satterfield needs a win over the Linden, N. J., boxer to insure his position as the sixth-ranked heavyweight.

Another victory for Carter probably will put him on the heavy-weight ladder from his current ninth rung and put him in contention for the vacant title.

The bout will be nationally televised and broadcast 9 p.m. (EST), (ABC) with Syracuse blacked out.

Nelson To Cards

BROOKLYN, July 31 (P)—Glen (Rocky) Nelson, 31-year old Brooklyn sub first baseman was waived to the St. Louis Cardinals. Dodger General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi announced yesterday.

Charges Nine Big 10 Schools Gave 'Full Ride' Scholarships

NEW YORK, July 31 (P)—All Big 10 schools, except the University of Illinois, gave "full ride" scholarships to one or more football players last fall and Michigan found a loophole to allow financial aid to Wolverine stars, Look Magazine said in a copyrighted article today.

Ron Kramer, Michigan's star end, received a $500 grant from the school through an "escape" clause in the Western Conference (Big 10) regulations, the article added.

This clause as construed at Michigan allows unearned financial assistance to students despite their failure to qualify academically, if the aid is based on circumstances not related to their athletic skills, Look said.

In addition to Kramer, other Michigan players got financial help though they did not make qualifying grades in university courses, the magazine story continued.

Defends Kramer

Director of Athletics H. O. (Fritz) Crisler at Michigan defended the Kramer allowance, Look said, on the basis that the $500 payment was not related to Kramer's athletic ability in football, basketball and track but was given out because of Kramer's "need."

Michigan Dean Walter B. Rea explained the Kramer grant as resulting from a need created by the athletic's participation in three sports.

Look said Big 10 rules plainly bar "payments to athletes whose grades average below C plus, and Kramer's cumulative average is less than that."

The magazine story said also that the State University of Iowa was a leader in "full ride" scholarships—those including board, room, tuition, and books to football players in the top third of their class.

28 Scholarships

Iowa gave 17 varsity and nine freshmen scholarships of from $874 to $1,028 in 1955, Look said. It estimated that all academic costs at Iowa for a year ranged from $1,300 to $1,500.

Northwestern gave the next fewest "full ride" scholarships to Illinois, Look said.

The magazine article predicts that all Big 10 rules and restraints will fall by the wayside if the conference approves or condones the money awards made to Kramer and other Wolverine athletes because of "need," if the need was created in part by the amount of time they devote to sports and despite their lagging scholarship.
